

GWYNETH MINER

978.809.4688 ◇ gwyneth_miner@berkeley.edu

EDUCATION

University of California, Berkeley

August 2019 - Present

Ph.D., Economics

Primary Fields: Development, Labor; Secondary Fields: Urban, Spatial

Boston College

August 2015 - May 2019

B.A., Economics, Summa Cum Laude

Minors in Math and French. Phi Beta Kappa. Alice E. Bourneuf Award for Economics.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Research:

University of California, Berkeley Economics Department

Berkeley, CA / Busia, Kenya

Graduate Student Researcher

May 2020 - Present

- Provided data analysis for Professor Edward Miguel's project examining the general equilibrium effects of cash transfers
- Supported ongoing field work in Western Kenya

Harvard Kennedy School, Evidence for Policy Design

Cambridge, MA / Lahore, Pakistan

Research Intern

January 2017 - May 2019

- Supported Dr. Asim Khwaja's research team with desk and field research for projects related to education and vocational training
- Wrote and edited grant, policy, and media materials intended for large, multinational foundations, corporations and audiences

Boston College Economics Department

Chestnut Hill, MA

Research Assistant

September 2017 - December 2018

- Served as a research assistant for Professor Anant Nyshadham of Boston College
- Analyzed the effects of demand shocks on brand and supplier relationships, through the example of a leading garment firm in India

GiftedMom

Yaoundé, Cameroon

Researcher

February 2018 - May 2018

- Performed an impact evaluation of a Cameroonian mobile healthcare platform
- Presented findings in paper that assessed the effect of GiftedMom on improving health outcomes of pregnant women and mothers with infants

Teaching:

University of California, Berkeley Economics Department

Berkeley, CA

Graduate Student Instructor

August 2020 - Present

- Introduction to Economics (x2), Econometrics, Case Studies in Economic Development

RESEARCH GRANTS

Understanding the Constraints to Internal Migration

($4k) CECA Spring Development Economics Challenge - 2022